Wyoming Department of Workforce Services Notice to Employees Health and Safety Protection on the Job

The Wyoming Occupational Health and Safety Act provides job health and safety protection for workers employed by general business and industry throughout the state as well as for all employees of the state and its political sub-divisions, occupations which are not an issue within the state and are not covered by the occupational health and safety act include ship repairing, ship building, ship breaking and longshoring.

Wyoming Workers' Compensation in consultation with the Wyoming Occupational Health and Safety Commission, created by the Act, has primary responsibility for administering the Act. Wyoming Workers' Compensation issues rules and regulations for job health and safety promulgated under the Act.

By law: Safety on the job is everybody's responsibility!

Employers

Each employer shall furnish to his employees, a place of employment and employment which are free from recognized hazards that are causing or that are likely to cause death or serious physical harm. Each employer shall comply with occupations safety and health standards, rules, regulations and orders issued pursuant to the Act.

Employees

Each employee shall comply with occupational safety and health standards and all rules, regulations and orders issued pursuant to this Act which are applicable to his own action and conduct.

Inspection

The Act requires that a representative or representatives of the employers and a representative or representatives authorized by the employees shall be given an opportunity to accompany a duly authorized representative of the Commission before or during the physical inspection of any workplace for the purpose of aiding such inspection.

Where there is no authorized employee representative, the authorized representative of the Commission

(Compliance Officer) shall consult with a reasonable number of employees concerning matters of safety and health.

Violation

If upon inspection Wyoming Workers' Compensation determines that an employer has violated the Act, a notice of violation will be issued to the employer within 180 days following the occurrence of the violation. Each notice of violation will specify a time period within which the violation must be corrected.

The notice of violation must be prominently posted in a conspicuous place at or near the site of the violation until the violation is corrected, or for three working days, whichever period is longer.

Voluntary Action

Technical Assistance Consultative Services is responsible for providing technical assistance to all industries, businesses, employees, employee groups, associations, state and local governments, establishments, agencies and departments. These services are available upon a written request from employers or employees. These services include but are not limited to courtesy inspections (without assessment of penalties), health and safety training and consultative services.

Complaint

Employees or their representatives have the right to file a complaint with Wyoming Workers' Compensation requesting an inspection if they believe unsafe or unhealthful conditions exist in their workplace. WSC will withhold names of employees complaining on request.

The Act provides that employees may not be discharged or discriminated against in any way for filing safety and health complaints or otherwise exercising their rights under the Act.

An employee who believes he has been discriminated against may file a complaint with Workers' Safety and
